The dinner is arranged to bring together two persons long separated, and who at one time were engaged to be married. Through a mistake the wrong lady is invited. The ludicrous results that follow are capitally portrayed, and afford excellent opportunities for good acting. DOCTOR CURE-ALL A comedy in two acts, by S. JENNIE SMITH. For two males and eight females. Time, twenty-five minutes. Scenery and costumes, ordinary. The doctor advertises to cure any ill that flesh is heir to. Following his treatment, the fat woman becomes distressingly thin; the lean one grows immoderately stout; the anxious mother s bashful, silent daughter becomes a noisy hoyden. The irate patients threaten the doctor with personal violence. In his terror he flees...
